Description

Operating grants are the primary means by which the Cancer Research Society supports fundamental, early translational and environment-cancer research activities on all types of cancer, contributing to the advancement of science aimed at preventing, detecting and treating this disease. The Cancer Research Society Operating Grants Competition is now open to researchers across Canada.

CRS Operating Grants are intended to support Canadian researchers in their pursuit to advance scientific knowledge in the following three (3) areas:

1. Fundamental/basic cancer research
2. Early translational cancer research, including preclinical research cellular or animal models, biomarkers for diagnostics and prognosis and imaging
3. Research studying the environmental causes of cancer including viruses, pollutants, work environment, lifestyle and diet.

The following research areas are not eligible for Operating Grants:

- Clinical trials
- Applied research for the development or improvement of tools such as instruments, medical devices, software, questionnaires, information tools, patient registries, biobanks, TMA collections, etc.
- Psychosocial or social studies, survivorship, etc.
- Health care economics, or any study aiming at measuring the use and costs of the health care system
- Any other type of research not included in the main three funded areas

Eligibility

All applicants and co-applicants must hold an academic appointment at a Canadian university or accredited institution.

They must have their own laboratory and have the possibility of hiring students and postdoctoral fellows.

- Postdoctoral fellows are not eligible
- Research associates are not eligible
- Staff and research scientists with no academic appointment are not eligible

A Young Investigator is an independent investigator, who has started their career in a university or research institution within the last five years (i.e. after August 31, 2016).

How to Apply

See CRS program guidelines below.

Information For Co-applicants

If you need to meet a deadline set by the lead institution for this opportunity, please ensure that you provide the Office of Research with at least five days in advance of the lead institution's deadline to review the application, or your proposed component of the project. Please be in touch with the Office of Research (contact information below) ahead of the deadline if it looks like it will be difficult for you to submit all the required documentation on time (i.e. budget, proposal, OR-5 Form).
