Canadian Institutes for Health Research

Program

CIHR maintains a website for Current Funding Opportunities [1] outlining all upcoming program details and guidelines.

Description

The Canadian Institutes of Health Research (CIHR) is Canada's federal funding agency for health research. Composed of 13 Institutes, they collaborate with partners and researchers to support the discoveries and innovations that improve our health and strengthen our health care system. To this end, CIHR maintains a website dedicated to informing researchers about their programs and funding opportunities. The Research Services Office is committed to keeping the campus community informed of these opportunities by ensuring access to program information. Please see the link available in the Program section.

Indirect Costs

Unless otherwise specified in the program guidelines, the indirect cost rate for CIHR funding is 0%.

How to Apply

Please ensure you review the full guidelines posted by the sponsor. Applicants should submit their complete application and signed OR-5 to the Research Services Office (research.services@uoguelph.ca [2]) at least seven (7) days in advance of CIHR's external deadline.

For smaller programs or special calls, the Nominated Principal Applicant uploads the full application in the ResearchNet portal.

For standard, cyclical programs such as the bi-annual Project Grants competition where Research Support Services is responsible for submission to CIHR, a separate and specific Research Alert will be posted for applicant information.
