Description

This initiative will support teams of researchers, patients* and knowledge users to investigate prospectively the indirect socio and economic cost of inherited diseases in Canada. These costs include but are not limited to: loss of income/education, early retirement, isolation/missing community and cultural events, cost of medication and devices, out-of-pocket healthcare expenses, at-home care, etc. Teams must include representation from at least three provinces or territories to allow for cross-jurisdictional comparisons.

In the context of this funding opportunity, patient is "an overarching term inclusive of individuals with personal experience of a health issue and informal caregivers, including parents and family, friends, and members of support organizations (e.g. patients' associations)."

Webinar: CIHR will be hosting webinars in English and French to answer questions and support participants with the requirements of this funding opportunity. To register, contact info@cihr-ig-irsc.ca [2] with subject line "ISEBID webinar".

COVID-19 Impact on ECRs:
CIHR is temporarily adjusting the period of eligibility for an ECR. All those who held ECR status as of March 1, 2020, or who secured their first academic appointment after this date, will have their status extended by one year.
CIHR will closely monitor the pandemic and its impact on ECRs overall and on specific groups with the intent that further interventions may be warranted.
