

Lasker Medical Research Awards - 2021

Sponsor

Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation

Description

The Lasker Awards program was created in 1945 by Albert and Mary Lasker to shine a spotlight on fundamental biological discoveries and clinical advances that improve human health, and to draw attention to the importance of public support of science.

The Basic Award and the Clinical Award are given annually. The Special Achievement Award and the Public Service Award are given in alternate years: the Special Achievement will be given in 2020; the Public Service will be given next in 2021.

The Lasker Awards will be offered in three categories in 2021:

?Albert Lasker Basic Medical Research Award [1]: For a fundamental discovery that opens up a new area of biomedical science.

Lasker~DeBakey Clinical Medical Research Award [2]: For a major advance that improves the lives of many thousands of people.

Lasker~Bloomberg Public Service Award [3]: For improving the public's understanding of medical research, public health, or healthcare; providing financial support for initiatives to enhance public health and/or medical research; serving as a spokesperson for medical research or public health; providing outstanding public health practice.

Additional information regarding these awards is available on the Lasker Award [4] website.

Eligibility

Anyone who has made an original and significant contribution in basic or clinical medical research, or in public service, is eligible for nomination. Lasker Awards are highly competitive and are bestowed on individuals whose work opens new areas of biomedical science or public service. Award winners may reside in any country of the world.

Colleagues familiar with the nominee(s)'s work and with the relevant field of research (or area of public service) are ideal nominators. Self-nominations or nominations written by the candidates themselves will not be considered by the Jury.

Prize

The Lasker Awards carry an honorarium of $250,000 for each category.

Special Notes

Please refer to the Office of Research COVID 19 web-page [5] for directives related to research activities at the University of Guelph.
