Description

Research Excellence Awards highlight research achievements of recently tenured faculty members, to raise the profile of individuals who would be considered for future external recognition and promote the recognition of research excellence at the University. Research Excellence Awards should be viewed as a “stepping stone” to future research recognition, as well as a strong sign of support of their current research achievements. Eligibility

To be eligible, a faculty member should be within two years of having been awarded tenure. Newly tenured faculty members will be eligible for two nominations -- one on the year they are granted tenure, and, if unsuccessful, another in the year following that. A candidate must:

This includes published works, as well as other forms of scholarly output, research-related knowledge mobilization, research-derived innovation, and training of highly qualified personnel;
- be on track to, or has already received, recognition on a national and/or international level;
- be someone for whom the Research Excellence Award would help promote further external successes.

Each college will receive one Research Excellence Award per year, for a total of seven awarded across the University. Recipients will:

- Hold the award for one year
- Receive $5,000.00 deposited in their general purpose research account. One recipient will receive special recognition and receive an additional $5,000.00

Colleges will also be deciding how the nominations are evaluated prior to submission for approval. It is expected and highly-suggested that colleges give special attention and consideration to Tri-Agency equity, diversity, and inclusion guidelines, and be prepared to indicate what plans were put in place to ensure that these guidelines have been observed.
