

Why Research Matters - Panel Discussion

Published on Research Alerts (<https://www-research.uoguelph.ca/research/alerts>)

Why Research Matters - Panel Discussion

Date

Tuesday March 31, 2015 6:30pm to 6:30pm

Location

Guelph Civic Museum - 52 Norfolk St., Guelph

Description

Plants for food in space, the 3-D printing revolution and a 20-year family health community research program will be featured as part of a “Why Research Matters” panel discussion at the Guelph Civic Museum on Tuesday, March 31, 2015. The event, sponsored by the Office of Research, is meant to engage the public in understanding the value of research. Doors open at 6:30 p.m., with the program getting underway at 7. Free admission. Limited seating.

Alert Classifications Category:

Workshops and Events

Disciplines:

Health and Life Sciences

Humanities

Information and Communications Technology

Physical Sciences and Engineering

Social Sciences

Source

URL:<https://www-research.uoguelph.ca/research/alerts/events/2015/why-research-matters-panel-discussion>